2. In 1953 the Agency adopted the present policy pertaining to living quarters as expressed in [redacted] This policy assured employees "decent, comfortable, but modest quarters" at Agency expense when the standard government allowance for quarters was deemed inadequate for that purpose. Although not uniformly applied by the several Divisions and stations, this policy generally accomplished the stated purpose but it resulted in a substantial additional work burden on the stations, and by 1958 there were complaints about excessive costs [redacted]
